Michigan Psychoanalytic Institute, 32841 Middlebelt Road, Farmington Hills

The Michigan Psychoanalytic Institute is honored to have Jack Drescher, M.D. with us for the week of March 16-21, 2020.

Please note: The Monday Evening, March 16th event includes a dinner prior to the paper presentation. Due to limited space, there are only 90 registrations available. Registration deadline is Monday, March 2nd. A $40 fee for dinner and presentation must be paid at the time of reservation. To register, please contact Melanie Schwab at (248) 851-3380 or melanieschwab@ix.netcom.com.

About the presenter: Dr. Drescher is a distinguished life fellow of the American Psychiatric Association, past president of the Group for Advancement of Psychiatry and a past president of APA's New York County Psychiatric Society. He is clinical professor of psychiatry at Columbia University, College of Physicians and Surgeons and faculty member, Columbia Center for Psychoanalytic Training and Research. He is adjunct professor of psychiatry, New York Medical College and clinical supervisor and adjunct professor at New York University's postdoctoral program in psychotherapy and psychoanalysis. He is a training and supervising analyst at the William Alanson White Institute. With authorships and honors too numerous to mention here.

Practice Gap Need and Course Description: Many analysts/therapists are not aware of Freud's early contributions to homosexuality, which can have, and be perceived to have, embedded moralizing and judgmental qualities. Through use of power point and discussion Dr. Drescher will detail Freud's early contributions to the study of human sexuality and then the problems in psychoanalysis that have served as obstacles in promoting its findings to other disciplines, as well as, patients.

After attending this presentation, participants will be able to: 1) Define Freud's early contributions to the study of human sexuality. 2) Identify current problems in the field of psychoanalysis that serve as obstacles to promoting its findings to other disciplines.

Susan Flinders, Ph.D.
